Students with impairments, disabilities and/or illnesses, who require assistance for example with changes to modes of lectures and exams, can find comprehensive information on accessible studying at the University of Vienna here. Please be aware that while the University of Vienna strives to make studies accessible, there are no universal solutions and students will have to get in contact with lecturers/examiners directly for individual arrangements.

Students can turn directly to Team Barrierefrei (Accessible Studying Team) who, among other things, offer detailed information on access to individual buildings, alternative assessment methods and other support services. Please contact the contact person of the relevant program as well as Team Barrierefrei right after your nomination in order to enable us to offer the best assistance possible.

Furthermore, there is a FAQ section for Incoming students with disabilities.

We can also kindly refer you and prospective students to our website for more information on studying at the University of Vienna:

<https://international.univie.ac.at/en/student-mobility/incoming-students/erasmus-student-exchange/>.

In general, students have to take a majority of courses from their nominated field of study (and degree level) and they can browse our online course directory for the course offerings in your field of study of the respective term (see u:find \(univie.ac.at\)). Please know that the course offering is made available one to two months before the beginning of the respective term.

It is, however, important to note that the course offering changes from term to term and that all students have to register for courses with continuous assessment during the respective registration period to be considered in the allocation process. Registration does not guarantee a spot in the respective course.

Students may choose some courses from other fields of study. Courses from the same field of study but a different degree level are also considered courses outside your nominated field of study.

Students will have to discuss this with their mobility coordinators, obtain their mobility coordinators' approval, and the signature of the University of Vienna's mobility coordinator of the respective field(s) for their learning agreement. There are no guarantees that they will be able to attend courses outside your nominated field of study due to questions of requirements as well as a limited number of participants and availability.

While there might be some courses available in English, these vary from department to department and from term to term.

With regards to language requirements we kindly refer you and your students to the language requirements set in the respective Erasmus+ exchange agreement.
